UAE IS THE MOST PROSPEROUS ARAB NATION ACCORDING TO LEADING INDEX

The 2017 Legatum Prosperity Index™ indicates that prosperity has improved rapidly in the United Arab Emirates, driven by significant advances in the nation's Business Environment and Economic Quality.

The UAE ranks 39th for overall prosperity, reflecting consistent improvements over the past decade. Notably, the UAE's Standard of Living has improved more than in any other country in the world over the past ten years. Social Capital and Governance have also improved, now ranking 1st and 2nd in MENA, respectively.

The 11th edition of the Index reveals a number of surprising global, regional and national trends in economic and social wellbeing, including an alarming deterioration in global security and a widening gap between the most and least prosperous nations.

The Legatum Prosperity Index is the world's leading global measure of economic and social wellbeing. Covering 149 nations and based on 104 indicators and 15,000 data points, it presents a unique insight into international wellbeing by identifying the conditions required for prosperous nations. Its broad range of indicators allows the Prosperity Index to pinpoint not only the drivers, but also the obstacles to a nation's prosperity. These are organised into nine pillars of prosperity: Economic Quality, Business Environment, Governance, Personal Freedom, Social Capital, Safety and Security, Education, Health and Natural Environment.

2017 PROSPERITY INDEX - KEY FINDINGS

1. Despite turbulence in many areas, global prosperity has increased

Prosperity now sits at its highest level in the last decade, 2.6% higher than in 2007. More countries have shown improvement than those who haven't, however the gap between the most and least prosperous 30 nations continues to grow.

2. Norway has regained the number one spot from New Zealand

Norway's #1 ranking has been the result of improvements in the country's Business Environment and Governance in the past twelve months, with Norwegians more optimistic about starting a business and more confident in their government than last year.

3. The UK has maintained its tenth place in the rankings

Britain stays in 10th place, driven by the best Business Environment in Europe, and fifth best in the world. Economic Quality in the UK has also begun to recover, and now sits ahead of both Canada and the US.

4. The world has become less safe and secure

Safety and Security continued its decade-long decline, deteriorating in nearly two-thirds of nations and by five times more than any of the Index's other pillars. The most concentrated declines have come in the MENA region, in part as a result of Syria's civil war.

5. The greatest gains in prosperity have come from the Asia-Pacific region

Gains came through a fast-improving Business Environment, especially in the population centres of India (100th), China (90th), Pakistan (137th) and Indonesia (59th).

- 6. Governance improved in every region in 2017, with Asia and Sub-Saharan Africa rising fastest
Across the world judiciaries became more independent from state interference and the process of challenging governmental regulation became easier. People also became more confident in the outcomes of elections.
- 7. Western European prosperity overtook North America for the first time in the Index
Western European prosperity remained broadly constant; but North America fell faster than any other region, due to an increase in the number of homicides and greater societal pressure on citizens' freedom of religion.
- 8. India is catching up with China
India has narrowed the gap on China to a quarter of what it was in 2012. It has improved by four ranks in the past year, the result of gains in Business Environment, Economic Quality and Governance.
- 9. Latin America is showing the most concentrated declines in prosperity
While overall prosperity increased in Latin America and the Caribbean, the region also contains some notable fallers, including Venezuela but also Nicaragua, Ecuador and El Salvador.
- 10. The Nordic and Anglosphere nations have enjoyed the highest overall prosperity in the world.
There has been a representative from each at the number one spot for each of the last eleven years, with consistently high quality of life especially in the Health and the Natural Environment pillars.

Commenting on the publication of this year's edition of the Prosperity Index, the Legatum Institute's CEO, Philippa Stroud, said:

"Once again, this year's Index is helping us all identify how we can create more prosperous lives, building stronger economies, societies and nations. Searching out the areas in which nations have potential to grow is a crucial part of realising this goal. Our hope is that our Index can continue to help governments and policy-makers to identify and promote policies that create pathways from poverty to prosperity."

NOTE TO EDITORS

Over the past 11 years, the Legatum Prosperity Index has evaluated long-term changes in global prosperity, pinpointing some of the drivers of progress and highlighting those nations that have made the greatest strides forward. It is used by governments around the world as part of their key performance metrics. The Prosperity Index is produced by the Legatum Institute's Centre for Metrics, and overseen by an international expert advisory panel led by the Nobel Prize winner Professor Sir Angus Deaton.

ABOUT THE LEGATUM INSTITUTE

The word 'legatum' means 'legacy'. At the Legatum Institute, we are focused on tackling the major challenges of our generation—and seizing the major opportunities—to ensure the legacy we pass on to the next generation is one of increasing prosperity and human flourishing.

Based in London, we are an international think tank and educational charity which seeks to provide evidence-based solutions for those who would see free, just and flourishing societies. We do this through our research and by bringing together those who wish to work towards creating a better, more prosperous world. At the Legatum Institute, we believe that prosperity is not just a journey of accumulation, but one of transformation.
